Universal to Highlight Services to Asia-based Operators at ABACE2007 UVglobal Network Evaluating Expansion in Emerging Asian Markets

Houston, Texas (Feb. 5, 2007) – Universal Weather and Aviation, Inc. will highlight its commitment to Asia’s growing business aviation market, displaying its complete offering of trip support services at the second annual Asian Business Aviation Conference and Exhibition (ABACE2007).

ABACE2007 will be held Feb. 6-7 at the AsiaWorld-Expo at Hong Kong International Airport in Hong Kong, and is the only major exhibition focused solely on business aviation in Asia. Universal® will be located at exhibit 616, just left of the center of the exhibition floor.

“Asia has tremendous potential for growth and is one of the world’s foremost emerging markets for business aviation,” said Vic Gregg, Regional Director, Australasia and the Pacific, UVglobal Network®. “Universal® is already the provider of choice for the majority of Asia-based operators, and we are evaluating several ascending regional markets as potential expansion locations of the UVglobal Network®. ABACE2007 is the perfect forum to meet with Asia-based operators and discuss how we can further enhance our service offerings and identify the regional locations where our services are most in need.”

“In addition to our support of the Asia-based operator, Universal® provides global support to those traveling to Asia and the rest of the world by offering a full suite of services,” said Justine Finnett, Vice President, Worldwide Sales and Marketing. “At ABACE2007, we will be providing hands-on demonstrations of our online tools, such as *UVflightplanner.com*sm and online weather capabilities, which provide Asia-based operators flexibility and options when planning their trips.”

Representatives will be available to discuss Universal’s 15 current UVglobal Network® locations in the region, as well as its complete line of business aviation services, including flight planning, permits, weather forecasting, *UVflightplanner.com*sm, UVdatalink®, *UVTripPlanner*sm, security arrangements, and more.

Additionally, information will be available on security and mobile device services arranged through Universal®, and the UVair® Fueling Card, which is accepted throughout Asia and the rest of the world.
